The Brandes Emerging Markets Value Fund (the “Fund”) Class I USD returned 3.27%, outperforming its benchmark, the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, which was up 2.37% in the quarter, and the MSCI Emerging Markets Value Index, which gained 1.31%.

Positive Contributors

Notable performers included holdings in Taiwan, South Korea, and Brazil. Specifically, semiconductor firms Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (TSMC) and SK hynix aided returns, as did cloud infrastructure company Wiwynn and regional jet manufacturer Embraer.

Embraer continued to benefit from a recovery in its commercial aerospace end-market, resulting in improved cash-flow generation and a stronger balance sheet. Meanwhile, TSMC, SK hynix, and Wiwynn appreciated as the proliferation of Artificial Intelligence (AI) applications fuelled rising demand for semiconductor chips and servers.

From a sector perspective, select holdings in communication services were solid contributors, led by India’s Indus Towers and Luxembourg-listed Millicom International.

Other standout performers included Chinese household durables companies Gree Electric Appliances and Midea Group, and Mexican real estate investment trust Terrafina.

Performance Detractors

Several holdings in China detracted from performance, notably TravelSky Technology, Chinasoft International, LONGi Green Energy Technology, and Alibaba.

TravelSky issued a profit warning in January, attributing it to cost inflation mainly driven by increased expenditures in salary compensation, technical support and maintenance, research and development, and system security. Chinasoft declined on weaker-than-anticipated revenue and earnings from the second half of 2023. Meanwhile, LONGi continued to grapple with an industry oversupply issue that has pressured pricing within its wafer segment. We believe LONGi will likely be able to maintain healthy profitability throughout the downcycle, in contrast to its less profitable, second-tier peers.

MORNINGSTAR STYLE BOX™

The Morningstar Style Box™ reveals a fund’s investment strategy by showing its investment style and market capitalization based on the fund’s portfolio holdings.

In addition to these company-specific challenges, many of our Chinese holdings faced subdued investor sentiment stemming from the country’s weaker-than-expected post-COVID economic rebound and consumption, and the persistent downturn in its property sector. While we did not add any new China-based companies to the Fund during the quarter, we selectively increased our existing positions amid the share-price weakness.

Amongst our bank allocation several holdings declined, namely India-based HDFC Bank, Thailand-based Kasikornbank, and South Africa’s Absa Group.

Relative to the benchmark, our significant underweight to India hurt returns. While we recognise India’s robust economic growth potential, our analysis indicates that most company valuations are well above their historical averages, already reflecting an ample dose of market optimism.

Select Activity in the Quarter

We increased our allocation to Mexico-based telecom America Movil while divesting Indonesian telecom XL Axiata.

Boasting market leadership in Latin America, America Movil (AMX) is one of the world's largest network operators in terms of subscribers. The company's operations span 22 countries, with a primary focus in Latin America and a presence in Austria and Eastern Europe. AMX was formed in 2001 when Telmex, Mexico's wireline incumbent that was privatized in 1990, spun off its wireless business. With over 50% voting ownership, the Slim family controls AMX.

We are highly familiar with AMX, previously owning the business at various times over the years. Recently, several factors have pressured AMX's share price. These included a year-over-year contraction in reported service revenue driven by a strong Mexican peso, some negative views on lower-than-expected returns to shareholders, and uncertainty around potential regulatory changes in Mexico, as well as fiscal loosening in the country as the 2024 presidential election approaches.

AMX's share-price weakness provided a good opportunity—in our opinion—to re-initiate a position in what we consider a fundamentally sound company. AMX has a long history of prudent capital allocation, with a focus on long-term returns on capital and free-cash-flow generation. We also like that the business has a diversified geographic exposure and enjoys significant economies of scale in Latin America due to its size (it is essentially the same size as all other Latin American telecoms combined). AMX's operations have been improving, with healthy growth in the wireless segment and a turnaround in fixed-line services. Moreover, as the dominant telecom in Mexico, the company is a likely beneficiary of the nearshoring trend. Further upside in the share price could materialize if the potential regulatory changes turn out uneventful, and if investor sentiment improves as the market looks to possible capital returns to shareholders for 2024 (i.e., through dividends or share buybacks). At its current valuation levels, AMX represents a compelling risk/reward trade-off to us.

Current Positioning

The Fund's weightings from geographic and sector perspectives were largely unchanged in the quarter.

We continue to hold underweights to companies in India, Taiwan, and China, while maintaining an overweight to Latin America through our diversified positions in telecommunications, utilities, energy, and real estate. In our view, these holdings have the potential to gain from deflationary input costs and the increasing trend of nearshoring in Mexico and nearby regions.

On a sector basis, the Fund holds large overweight's to real estate, consumer discretionary, industrials, and financials. Meanwhile, key underweights remain in the materials, health care, energy, and information technology sectors.

As of 31 March 2024, the Fund trades at more compelling valuation levels than the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, in our opinion. We believe that the current fundamentals of our holdings bode well for the long term, and we are excited about the Fund's prospects.

Neither Morningstar nor its content providers are responsible for any damages or losses arising from any use of this information. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. For more detailed information about Morningstar's Analyst Rating, including its methodology, please go to global.morningstar.com/managerdisclosures/. The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or "star rating", is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. Brandes Emerging Markets Value Fund was rated against the following numbers of Global Emerging Markets Equity funds over the following time periods: 2924 funds in the last three years, and 2276 funds in the last five years, and 1260 funds in the last ten years.
